Recreation Center Now A Reality

Hard Work Pays Off

After much hard work on the part of many individuals, Purdue Cal's first recreation center is now open. The center is in the Industrial Research Building room R-70, just below the Student Congress office. The recreation center holds two pool tables, eight card tables, couches and lounge chairs. For refreshment soft drink and coffee machines are provided.

Students now have a place to play cards, a game of pool or a place just to sit down and relax between classes. The new pool tables are the pay type (25¢), complete with cues, chalk, and rules for the ocasional argument. The pool section will be separated from the card playing section with a private door for each section.

The original proposal for a student recreation center in R-70 was introduced by former student congress Vice President Jesse Warren. He presented his legislation to the Student Congress last December. After the proposal won overwhelming support by the Senators the behind-the-scenes work began.

An administrative committee of Dean De Graff, Mr. Stone, Mr. Newsome, Mr. Perkins, and Mr. Hubbard paved the way for the use of the room and furnishings for it. Mr. Newsom of the Business Office did the leg work finding the right furniture for the center. (Ever try to find checkerboard card tables? It is not easy.) Mr. Perkins also helped by making sure the idea was moving forward and not bogged down in red tape as so often is the case. He also kept the Student Congress informed on just what was going on.

A talk with Mr. Perkins produced the findings that the new room will be for card playing. No more will students have to stand to each lunch in the food lounge for lack of tables.

Decorations for the Center will be furnished by the Gables, the fine arts club of Purdue Cal. Miss Stark has promised travel posters and art work to liven up the center. Future decoration will be provided by other clubs making it a truly community effort.

Though space is limited, future plans call for a record player and even a ping-pong table if the students so wish.

The card tables will be used for more than just playing cards. With a checkerboard on each table they can be used for checkers or chess. The Student Congress will provide the checker and chess sets as well as cards for student use in the near future.

The hours for the center are from 8:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Future plans are to extend the hours from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. so the night students can also benefit from the center.

This recreation center is for the students, paid for by student activity fees. So use the Center but don't abuse it.

Student relaxes between classes.

Frosh Relates Perils Of Kangaroo Court

The worst place a freshman could possibly be during the noon hour is within a mile radius of the student lounge. Some odd things have been happening there during the past week. The Kangaroo Court with their baggy black robes and stringy wigs have drawn crowds of upper classmen to watch them terrorize the freshman. There is never any mercy shown to a petrified kid with a beanie who tries to hide behind a pillar, in the halls, or in the washroom. It doesn't even matter if the freshman wears his beanie and carries his yellow folder anyway, because if they want him, they'll get him.

Everyone thinks its funny when the judge hands out a penalty, some of which are very embarrassing to say the least. It's not unusual to be sold as a slave to the highest bidder, to have to push pennies across the floor with your nose, or to do the popcorn while standing on the highest table in the room. Even the dumbest of freshmen knows that to refuse a penalty is to ask for a trip to the fish pond.

Of course it's all for fun, so they say. Next year when the freshmen are sophomores, they will be able to seek their revenge. They have a good head start on ideas from this year's experiences, and you better believe that they won't forget them.

Theatre Co. Seeks Coffin

Purdue Cal's Theatre Company will start its new season with a comedy play named, "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mama's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feeling so Sad."

Written by Arthur Kopit, the play was the winner of the Vernon Rice award for off-Broadway theatre. It was described by The New York Times as "Funny, weird, stageworthy, and nonsensical."

The play deals with a widow and her young son arriving at a hotel carrying tons of luggage, a fish bowl with a live piranha, and a coffin containing the deceased father.

The play is powerfully spiked with the same humor that made unknown Robert Morse into a star when he portrayed the son in the film version of the play.

Tryouts were conducted Wednesday and Thursday.

The play will take place October 23, 24, and 25, at Morton Senior High School Auditorium, 8:30 p.m. The cast will also travel to St. Joseph's College in Rensealear, Indiana, on the following night.

All male students enrolled for 12 or more semester hours of credit will be sent the Selective Service Form 109-A card on or around October 15 indicating their enrollment status at the Calumet Campus. It will then be the responsibility of the student to deliver this card to their local Selective Service Board. In the past, the University sent the certification directly to the local board.

The University is required to notify local boards if students drop below full-time status during the semester.

Problems regarding selective service certification may be directed to Larry M. Crawford in the Registration Office.

Editorial

The Student Congress of Purdue Cal was established years ago to be a representative body of students on our campus. Once again it is time for Senatorial elections, and students here have the opportunity to select from all the candidates the one or two whom they feel best represent their views and ideas.

It never fails to amaze me that election returns are so weak. Only a fraction of the students even bother to vote, and yet it is these very same students who complain longest and loudest when something happens with which they do not agree.

The goal of the Congress Cabinet is to have a truly active and functional congress, but the Cabinet cannot reach this goal without your help.

Find out all you can about the candidates, and, on election day—VOTE!

ECHOES OF THE MIND

We waited - Nameless, faceless lot,
One smiled,
I smiled not.
The blues and greens and browns of God,
One smoke-hazed tone.
We cleared our throats -
We kicked the sod,
And thought . . . Nothing Much.

We stepped aboard the city bus,
And heard the clank - the hum
- the growl -
The din of cars and angry
honks,
The steady drone would en abrupt . . . begin again . . .
. . . and we sat weaving back and forth - and forth and back,
Shadows of Nothing Much.

The city loomed -
And we assumed OUR DOWNTOWN FACE.
And fell in stride
With shoppers - shufflers - idlers - doers -
On their rapid, vapid march.

Oh God -
Too fast -
This endless race.
AND NOW
I'VE lost my face!

So I fell out -
And like some weary, distant queen,
Surveyed my subject's scene -
Still thinking, Nothing Much.

Roses and Barbs

The new year has brought a new face to the Purdue Cal campus courtesy of the University and the City of Hammond. On the first day the construction of new sewers stared everyone in the eye, but as time passed we began to see that even better things were in store.

Metered areas are now located around the campus. Why were these meters installed in the "A" permit areas? The most notable of these is the area west of the research building. An already small and vital area was reduced at the expense of teachers and students. It seems that they could have been located east of the main building; after all, most of the offices vital to visitors are located in that area. Could it be that the administration doesn't like to walk to work?

Even as you read this you may be receiving a ticket from the City of Hammond for parking on Woodmar Avenue, a newly posted "No Parking" zone. Where do you park from here?

Anyone wishing to submit literary material to be printed in the BOILERMAKER please contact Rosemary Locasto in Rm. 299.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor of the Boilermaker,

The bookstore at PUCC is seriinadequate. It repeatedly fails to meet the needs of the faculty and the students. At our great school it definitely contributes not only to the de-professionalization of the faculty but also, in a way not often expressed, to the de-professionalization of the student.

I am now, for example, giving a course in summer school called the Psychology of Adolescence (Psy 534), in which thirty-four students are enrolled, about two-thirds of them on the graduate level. The textbooks for almost one-third of the class did not arrive until the course was half over almost to the day. Now, in reaction to this, should I build an exegesis that books are really unnecessary anyway? Incidentally, if the books would have arrived during the last week of class I would have been obliged to give A's to all of the students.

Obviously the students in my class were upset and gradually became exasperated by this kind of negligence. In addition, calling attention to the fact that this whole matter extends far beyond my example, some of these students were also complaining that at the same time they did not have any books for a second course for which they are enrolled.

As an active response to these conditions, I have obtained and, via the PUCC AAUP, I am prepared to exhibit some letters written by these students, thereby allowing them to describe their own plight. Furthermore, what was said, not only by the same students but also by many of the other students in the class, would have given a more accurate picture. I am sorry that I did not have a tape recorder in order to more completely report the extreme inconvenience of the students.

A survey, similar to the one used to obtain information leading to the two-hour Open Session on Mondays, would also give a more accurate picture of the bookstore problem. I have a strong feeling that, if I were at this campus next semester, I would become involved in a bookstore survey. Starting in about the third week of classes, this survey could be completed in less than a month.

This is extra work, yes, unnecessary extra work, but we have no choice, especially in the face of academic de-professionalization. Again I must agree. All of this would be unnecessary if some people drawing their pay were also earning their keep.

Along this line, I happen to know that the bookstore has been seriously inadequate for a long time (at least three years). During this time, several direct and specific efforts have been made to get the bookstore problem out of status quo. This is clear to anyone who has read the Boilermaker, the Minutes of the now defunct Advisory Committee at PUCC, and the Minutes of the Faculty Senate at Lafayette. In fact, this matter has come up so often that the response one hears has itself become useless and hardened by its own repetition.

If there is something unusual about the bookstore, we cannot expect a rapid miracle to follow from pushing the responsibility suddenly here and unexpectedly there. For a while we looked to the Director of this campus as the center of responsibility for this long-standing problem. And then, looking for a solution at a lower echelon, the responsibility was passed to the Academic Dean of this campus. And now the Faculty Bookstore Committee is our new locus of hope. If, in fact, we have a big problem calling for a big handle, then dallying a semester or two with this ad hoc committee is but a passing palliative. Again, if some people drawing their pay were also earning their keep, this committee would never have had any need to come into existence. It could have enjoyed all of the blessings of committee birth-control.

Scope of responsibility ,and the effectiveness with which it is exercised, is a large part of the bookstore problem. If the secretary is ineffective, it becomes the responsibility of her immediate superior, and he should be called to task for his inaction; and it then becomes the responsibility of whoever is next in line, and he should be called on the carpet for his inaction; and it then becomes the responsibility of . . . etc. In this way, very simply, we go as far as we have to go to solve the problem, all of the way to the top from downstairs up.

If the bookstore at PUCC continues to be seriously inadequate, this matter should be carried as far as the Board of Trustees, the National AAUP, perhaps those directly responsible for Accreditation, and, certainly to the Taxpayer of Indiana, especially the Taxpayer of the Calumet Region.

Please notice that this is carrying our problem to those who obviously are part of the external public relations of PUCC. This move is justified as a last resort. Even so, more important, giving it a fair try and tending first to our internal public relations, I sincerely hope that you will close ranks to aid in the solution of the bookstore problem.

Very truly yours,
Shea Zellwager

Department Reformed at Cal

Two appointments and two new faculty members are indicative of major changes in the Departments of Communication and Creative Arts. Prof. L. David Schuelke is now the Acting Chairman of the Calumet Section.

Dean Elliott also announced the appointment of Prof. Maurice E. Dixon as Coordinator of the Calumet Campus Theater. He will assume all responsibility for co-curricular theater activities.

Daniel L. Padberg, assistant professor of speech and creative arts, and William J. Seiler, instructor of speech, join the department's faculty this year. Padberg, who holds an M.S. in speech from Northern Illinois University, will teach technical dramatic production. Seiler, who is completing his Ph.D. dissertation in persuasive speaking at Purdue, holds a master's from Kansas State University. His courses will include Persussion and Business and Industrial Communication.

Schuelke stated that this year's offerings number thirty-eight with courses in Forensics, Interpersonal Communication, Acting, and Speech Correction.

Campus Fashions Modeled

Pi Delta Phi Sorority will present a Fashion Show for prospective pledges as part of the fall rush program. The Fashion Show will be held on Sunday, September 21 at 5 p.m. in the first floor lounge, and all interested coeds are welcome to attend.

Sorority members will model the latest in campus fashions. Many of the girls have sewn the outfits that they will model.

Maxine Mysliwy and Phyllis Fortuna, chairmen of the event hope that such a fashion show will give the new Purdue coeds an idea of the proper attire for various campus activities. They are being assisted by Marlene Butynski.

Some of the different categories to be presented at the fashion show will be outfits for classroom, dates, formals, and homecoming.

Pi Delta Phi will also host several informal rush coke parties to acquaint the new freshmen as well as former PUCC students with sorority.

This Time For Sure!

As President of the Student Congress I would like to officially make known my goals for Purdue Cal. When I ran for this office, I ran on the platform of activism. I still believe in this idea, and will to the best of my ability continue pushing forward for this goal. My fronts shall be wide and variable, they shall range from beautifying the campus, to administrative practices. The beneficiaries of these efforts will be not only the Student Body of Purdue Cal, but also Purdue Cal.

In understanding the role of the higher educational institutions in America, we must remember that the student is dedicating four years of his life to attain a higher cultural status. In obtaining this, he himself is paying for this achievement. I feel that it is the institution's responsibility to give him the most for his money i.e., from continually revising educational instruction to keep up with new technology, to presenting to the student a university which is pleasing to attend. How often we forget the impression appearance makes. I believe to make this campus a university instead of a commuting college, we must strive for the appearance of a university along with offering the student what a university can offer.

We now have the resources for making this campus a university we cannot, and must not, overlook the possibilities that are open to us. As President of the Student Congress, my obligations and responsibilities are to the Congress and Student Body. I cannot fulfill these obligations without your help also. I hope that together we will initiate a new life for Purdue Cal. My Cabinet and I will have scheduled office hours during the fall semester which will be posted before the start of the school year. If we can be of any assistance at all, please feel free to contact us.

Sincerely,
Wayne R. De Goey
Student Congress President

School of General Studies Proposed

Purdue Cal has taken the initial steps toward the establishment of a School of General Studies. This school would best meet the needs of students who are unsure of their goals in college.

Plans to create a General Studies program were recommended to Dean Elliott by the Council of Faculty Delegates at Cal.

The University's Board of Trustees has approved the program, and it may now be initiated here by the Dean with the advise of this faculty.

Dean Elliott stated that "This is one of the most exciting things that has been proposed to make education after high school possible for a broader range of students. It will make Purdue more accessible to the people without downgrading the standards of any other school of the University. This new school would include many students now in "temporary" or "unclassified" categories as well as offering the widest possible subject matter for those who may not meet another school's requirements.

The proposal was presented to the board by Dr. C. H. Lawshe. He cited that the school would lend invaluable opportunities to high school graduates who are lacking in one or several areas and are therefore not eligible for regular college admission. The new school would also assist high school graduates who, despite their potential, need remedial work in some areas.

The School of General Studies would be authorized to admit students with the understanding that the purpose of the school is to provide opportunity to many students not now admissible to existing schools at Purdue Cal.

Opportunities for Involvement

As students of Purdue Cal, our major objective while in college is our academic achievements. But, also as important is the formulating of policies which influences our academic environment. In the past the Administrative arm of the University determined the functioning policies, not only for the Student Body but also for the Faculty. Last year an organization called "The Council Of Faculty Delegates" was initiated to set forth policies with a more democratic point of view. With the increasing interest of student participation in academic and non-academic activities, Purdue University has opened the following committees to Student membership. They are as follows:

Calumet Campus Appeals Committee . . . 2 Positions Open.

Student Activity Fee Allocation Committee . . . 2 Positions Open.

Book Store Committee . . . 1 Position Open.

The Committee On Nonacademic Counseling and Financial Aids . . . 3 Positions Open.

The Library Committee . . . 1 Position Open.

The Committee On Academic Counseling . . . 1 Position Open.

These committees are of extreme importance to the academic environment of this university. In fulfilling the positions needed a student must devote time, and effort. Along with the committees open for student participation are the committees of the Student Congress. They are as follows:

Activities Research and Planning Committee . . . 2 Positions Open.

I.C.U. (Inter-communications of Universities) . . . 2 Positions Open.

Nominating Committee . . . 3 Positions Open.

Ombubsman Committee . . . 3 Positions Open.

Those persons wishing further information pertaining to the above listed committees should contact Mr. Perkins, Student Affairs Officer, or myself.

An important factor in participation is that you only get out what you have put into it.

Andrews Appointed New Controller of Cal

Purdue Cal took another step away from West Lafayette this summer when Edward L. Andrews assumed the position of comptroller. Business manager Gary H. Newsom announced the new post July 1.

As comptroller Andrews expands his duties to include those of bursar, a position he held since July 1, 1968, accountant for campus expenditures, fiscal administrator of student financial aids, and manager of local Ross-Ade Foundation properties.

A resident of Griffith, Andrews came to Cal in March, 1967, as assistant to the business administrator. Previous to that appointment Andrews was a staff auditor in the Internal Auditor's Office. He is a graduate of Indiana State University with a major in accounting.

Professor Plans Book

Dr. Terence A. Tobin, assistant professor of English at Purdue Cal, will spend the 1969-1970 academic season undertaking research into the selected letters of George Ade, famed Hoosier playwright and humorist.

Because of the extensive research needed, Dr. Tobin has been granted a one-year teaching transfer to the Lafayette Campus. Purdue's main campus library contains one of the world's largest collections of Ade's literary materials and correspondence.

Dr. Tobin plans to form his research into a book, "The Selected Letters of George Ade." The book will probably be published in the fall of 1970 by the Indiana Historical Society.

Dr. Tobin has collected more than five hundred facsimiles of Ade letters, many of them addressed to important national, political and literary figures of his time. Tobin will travel as far as Maryland and California, in order to interview surviving relatives of the author, or to examine letters from private collections.

In order to finance expenses that will be incurred in his travels, Tobin was awarded a $700 grant by the American Philosophical Society.

There will be a meeting Monday, Sept. 22 for Boilermaker Policy Staff and ALL interested students. Please attend — 12:00 Rm. 299.

Board Revises Student Conduct Code

Suspension, Expulsion Rules

RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of Purdue University as follows:

1. The Board of Trustees reaffirms that the mission of Purdue University is to teach, perform research and render public service in an orderly, peaceful and useful manner and thus to impart and advance the boundaries of knowledge in the service of the State and Nation.

2. The Board of Trustees, as the governing body of the University, is charged with the statutory duty and authority to make all rules and regulations necessary or proper to conduct and manage the University. This includes the administrative responsibility to regulate and control whatever conduct and behavior of the members of the University community impedes, obstructs, or threatens the achievement of the educational goals and mission of the University.

In turn, all members of the University family share a common and heavy responsibility to refrain from conduct which obstructs the work of the University, interferes with the lawful exercise of rights by other persons, endangers the safety or security of other persons or their property, prevents the proper use of the facilities of the University, or impairs the maintenance of that kind of an academic environment which is essential to the operation of an institution of higher learning.

3. The Board of Trustees requests that the President of the University take appropriate steps, including consultation with Faculty and representatives of the student body, leading to the revision of the University Code dealing with all regulations affecting students.

4. The Board of Trustees hereby reaffirms and clarifies the following policies and regulations which will remain in effect until further action by the Board.

A. Misconduct for which students are subject to suspension or expulsion from the University falls in the following categories.

(1) Dishonesty, such as cheating plagiarism, or knowingly furnishing false information to the University.

(2) Forgery, alteration, or misuse of University documents, records or identification.

(3) Obstruction or disruption of teaching, research, administration, disciplinary procedures, or other University activities or of other authorized activities on University premises. Such obstruction or disruption, whether involving individual or group conduct, and whether taking the form of force, trespass, seizure, occupation or obstruction of buildings, facilities or property, or of other conduct having such obstructive or disruptive effects, or the inciting of others to any conduct having such effects, is directly opposed to the maintenance of academic freedom and to the accomplishment of the mission of the University. Consequently, any student found guilty, under hearing procedures now or hereafter prescribed or approved by this Board, of violation of this subsection, will automatically be subject to a minimum sanction of suspension for the remainder of the semester (or summer session) during which the offense occurred, and for the next full academic semester (and any intervening summer session) thereafter, and to any additional sanction which may be imposed in a particular case by the appropriate tribunal under the hearing procedure.

(4) Physical abuse of any person on University-owned or controlled property, or on the property of fraternities, sororities, or cooperative houses or at University sponsored or supervised functions, or conduct which threatens or endangers the health or safety of any such person.

(5) Theft of or damage to property of the University or of a member of the University community or campus visitor.

(6) Unauthorized entry to or use or occupancy of University facilities.

(7) Violation of University policies, rules or regulations concerning student organizations, the use of University facilities, or the time, place, and manner of meetings or demonstrations on University-owned or controlled property.

(8) Use, possession, or distribution of narcotic or dangerous drugs except as expressly permitted by law.

(9) Violation of University regulations governing students who live in University-owned or controlled property, or in fraternities, sororities, and cooperative houses.

(10) Disorderly conduct or lewd, indecent, or obscene conduct or expression on University-owned or controlled property, or on the property of fraternities, sororities, and cooperative houses, or at University sponsored or supervised functions.

(11) Failure to comply with directions of University officials acting in the performance of their duties.

(12) Conduct which materially and adversely affects the student's suitability as a member of the Purdue University community.

(13) Misconduct in connection with "demonstrations." A demonstration for purposes of this regulation is defined as individual or group activity or conduct, apparently intended to call attention to the participants' point of view on some issue. Demonstrations are not of themselves misconduct. Demonstrations which do not involve conduct beyond the scope of Constitutionally-protected rights of free speech and assembly are, of course, permissible. However, conduct which is otherwise improper cannot be justified merely because it occurs in the context of a demonstration. Demonstrations which involve violation of other subsections of this regulation (such as, for example, disorderly conduct, physical abuse of any person, conduct which obstructs or disrupts authorized activities of others upon the campus, conduct which involves misuse or abuse of University facilities, or failure to comply with directions of University officials), or conduct which otherwise goes beyond constitutionally-protected rights and is violation of any law, ordinance, or University rule, regulation or policy, will not be permitted. Students will be charged with misconduct for any individual misconduct committed by them in the course of a demonstration.

B. Students shall be suspended or expelled from the University for misconduct only in accordance with the following procedures:

(1) Investigation of Handling of Alleged Misconduct

Investigations of alleged misconduct shall be made by the offices of the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women or comparable official at a regional campus. The students involved shall be interviewed. During the interview the student shall be told the specific charges made against him, that he is not required to make a statement of any kind, that any statement of his may be used against him, and that he has the right to present witnesses and evidence on his behalf.

(2) Suspension or Expulsion from the University

In cases in which the decision is to suspend or expel the student from the University, the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women or comparable official at a regional campus shall give the student a written statement advising the student of each decision, the grounds of such decision, and the right of the student to appeal to the Campus Appeals Committee. A copy of such statement may be sent to the parent or guardian of the student, and this shall be done in the case of single students who are under 21 years of age.

C. Appeal

The student shall have the right to appeal such decision by filing a written notice of appeal with the Chairman or the Secretary of the Campus Appeals Committee within 30 days after the date of the written statement advising him of the decision to suspend or expel him from the University. Within 5 days after the date on which the notice of appeal is filed, the Chairman or Secretary of the Campus Appeals Committee shall advise the student in writing of the time and place of the hearing of the appeal. As soon as practicable after the notice of appeal is filed, the Dean of Men or Dean of Women or comparable official at a regional campus shall furnish the student with a list of the names and addresses of the known witnesses.

D. Campus Appeals Committee

All appeals shall be heard de novo by a Campus Appeals Committee consisting of 9 members; 4 student members shall be appointed by a committee consisting of the student body president, the President Pro Tempore of the Student Senate, and the Chief Justice of the Student Supreme Court, or, at the regional campuses appointed by the student governing body or its executive committee; 3 faculty members shall be appointed by the Student Affairs Committee of the University Senate or regional campus faculty governing body; and 2 administrative staff members shall be appointed by the President of the University, one of whom shall be designated as chairman. The Committee shall adopt regulations for the conduct of its proceedings, keeping in mind that while it is not a court it shall observe the basic rules of fair procedure essential to justice. These hearings may be closed at the discretion of the Committee.

E. Hearing on Appeal

A student suspended or expelled from the University shall be given the opportunity on appeal to testify and to present evidence and witnesses in his behalf, to hear and confront witnesses against him, and to be represented and assisted at the hearing by the Student Advocate, or by a relative, friend, faculty member or other person (including legal counsel). The Legal Counsel of the University or his representative shall present to the Committee the evidence supporting the charges. All matters upon which the decision of the Committee may be based shall be introduced during the hearing. A record of the hearing shall be kept and the findings and decisions of the Committee shall be reduced to writing and a copy thereof furnished to both the student and the University officer involved.

The decision of the Campus Appeals Committee shall be final, except that the Board of Trustees reserves the right to review any action of the Campus Appeals Committee and to approve, reject or modify any action as the Board deems appropriate.

5. This resolution shall be published and distributed as promptly as possible so that each member of the student body, faculty and staff of the University may be advised of its contents.

The BOILERMAKER encaurages all students ta express their views by submitting letters to the Editor. Persons wishing their letters published shauld leave a capy with one af the fallawing: Mary Ja Garman ar Marlene Gransinger in Room 152, Dave Samuels in Raam 74, Praf. Nichols in Raam 263, or Praf. Soc. Dept. Expands

The following is a view of the Cultural Antropology class that meets at 2 p.m., on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from the perspective of the Instructor and one of his students.
Instructor, Mr. Anderson:

Mr. Anderson cites the objectives of the course as being to complete an area of general education by giving students an idea of what cultural antropologists do and how. According to Mr. Anderson a more blanket objective of the course lies in the purpose of liberal education itself, which is to free people from an unqualified acceptance of their own way of life. Cultural Anthropology does this by showing them a variety of solutions to the problems of life.

Mr. Anderson also views the course as "cheaper than field work" since it takes less time, you can live at home, and you don't have to learn foreign languages and customs.

Through this course Mr. Anderson feels a student can relive great adventures of mind and spirit, and come to see other different people as friends. Such an experience, to quote him, would be "More exciting than climbing Mount Everest," and furthermore, it's a chance "to come to know yourself better"

We've Come A Long Way Baby!

Potpourri of Sports

With the beginning of a new academic year comes the birth of a new sports season.

Soccer, basketball, baseball, and golf will be featured this year. Tennis in the spring and cross-country in the fall also loom as possibilities.

The soccer team will start the season when they travel to Fort Wayne on Friday, September 19. The team, composed of some twenty members, will be led by Tom Galouzis, a senior who learned to play soccer in his native country, Greece.

Basketball, Cal's forte, will begin on the fifth of December, when the Pipers will travel to play Milwaukee Tech at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. One night later, December 6, they will play North Central in the first season home game.

It is expected that the lineup will feature most of the seasoned veterans from last year. The schedule, starting in December and ending in February, will have the Pipers playing 18 games and also participating in the Huntington Basketball Tourney, which they hope to win.

The baseball season, in which Cal hopes to improve this year, ended last season with a .500 score. The Pipers won eight games and they lost eight. The team would have probably done much better if third baseman Ken Kuschka had not injured his leg and if the "errors" per game had not occurred as often.

"Our main weakness," said Coach Hayes, "was being a little light on catching the ball. If we could cut down on errors we could do much better."

The team's biggest asset is the better than average hitting displayed during the season. Since the team will only be losing one player, senior Mike Ryba, it is expected that returning upperclassmen, with more experience than last year, will form a more seasoned team.

Among the most promising players to watch are Chris Nickoloff and Ted Porter who showed great improvement in his last few games.

However, Coach Hayes promises a season with a "harder, tighter schedule."

But like a young armchair prophet said: "If the Mets could make it to first place, anything is possible."

This season's soccer team will have two things going for it—experienced players and a chance to use them in National Collegiate Athletic Association championship meets.

Returning this fall will be Danny Dragic (junior, Gary), who was last year's Most Valuable Player. Dragic adds his European experience, having played soccer in his native Yugoslavia, to that of the Galouzis brothers, Thomas and George.

Coach Shields commented that a promising crop of freshmen, which includes Terry Keith, Jim Buckman, and Bob Chamberlain, all members of last year's city championship soccer team, will help the team shape into a winning varsity.

Fort Wayne's Indiana-Purdue Campus hosts the season opener Sept. 20. The Pipers then travel to Valparaiso University for a game Sept. 24 and three days later meet Loyola of Chicago on our home field Sept. 27.

October will see Cal's first Invitational Soccer Tournament when the University of Chicago, Trinity College of Palos Hills, Ill., and Indiana-Purdue Fort Wayne teams meet the Pipers the third and fourth of that month.

Northwestern will be the next team to take on Purdue Cal Oct. 8. Homecoming Oct. 11 pits Cal against Lafayette, and George Williams College arrives Oct. 15 to do battle with the Pipers.

Soccer it to 'em guys!

Ticket Scoop

Student tickets are available to Purdue Cal students for Lafayette football games. The cost is $1.00 per ticket, per student. Tickets will be sold at the business office window for three games. The games are Purdue-Stanford, Oct. 4; Purdue-Iowa, Oct. 18; Purdue-Northwestern, Oct. 25.

It's The Real Thing

Purdue Cal has been elected to active membership in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Harry M. Cross, President of the NCAA, announced recently the approval and admittance of Purdue Cal by member institutions of the Association.

Dean Carl H. Elliot, Director of Purdue Calumet, hailed the action as a vital step forward in the expansion of athletic programs at Cal.

Membership approval will benefit Cal in the following ways:

(1) It will make Purdue Cal teams eligible for NCAA championship meets and tournaments.

(2) The NCAA "provides guide lines for participation in athletic events."

(3) Scheduling of games against other colleges will be greatly facilitated.

(4) The NCAA membership admittance demonstrates Purdue Cal's "continued development as a major university in the Calumet Region."

Tryouts Yield Cream of Crop

Spirit plays an important part on a college campus, and the same holds true for our own Purdue Cal. This Friday, tryouts will be held at the National Guard Armory, and five girls will be selected as Piper Cheerleaders for the 69-70 athletic season.

A panel of fifteen judges will select the five girls who best exemplify the spirit of Cal on the basis of poise, voice, and ability to do various jumps and cheers. Results of the tryouts will be announced after the voting.
